The Philippine Journal of Otolaryngology Head and Neck Surgery (PJOHNS), official refereed journal of the Philippine Society of Otolaryngology Head and Neck Surgery, is a free and open-access journal that follows the "Recommendations for the Conduct, Reporting, Editing, and Publication of Scholarly Work in Medical Journals" of the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (www.icmje.org), and is listed as such: <http://www.icmje.org/journals-following-the-icmje-recommendations/#P>

Its academic editors are committed to fair and professional dealing in all aspects of our publishing operations. Our role is to publish original work of value to the intellectual community in the best possible form and to the highest possible standards. We expect similar standards from our reviewers and authors. Honesty, originality and fair dealing on the part of authors, and fairness, objectivity and confidentiality on the part of editors and reviewers are among the critical values that enable us to achieve our aim. The PJOHNS endorses and behaves in accordance with the codes of conduct and international standards established by the Committee on Publication Ethics guidelines (<http://publicationethics.org/guidelines>).

It aims to provide local and overseas otolaryngologists, other surgeons and physicians, health and allied medical professionals, academicians and scientists from other disciplines, with a scholarly forum for the exchange of ideas and information in the discipline of otolaryngology - head and neck medicine and surgery and related fields that are especially relevant to health professionals in the Philippine and Asia Pacific context. It publishes peer-reviewed original articles (including clinical trials, laboratory investigations, effectiveness of diagnostic or therapeutic techniques); evidence-based medicine (including clinical practice guidelines, systematic reviews and meta-analyses, evaluations of current practices and commentaries); case reports with discussions; surgical and instrumentation innovations and illustrations of new techniques; review articles; imaging and histopathology cases; lectures and symposia; brief reports and abstracts; correspondence and guest editorials and studies relating to behavioral, epidemiological, educational or controversial issues in otolaryngology - head and neck medicine and surgery and related fields. We are particularly committed to publishing research and innovations for health that are relevant in low and middle-income countries.

Published semiannually, Number One of Volume One is dated January – December 1981. It is also published electronically, available from <http://journal.pso-hns.org/> Journal International Standard Serial Number: p-ISSN 1908 4889; e-ISSN 2094 1501 Vol. 32 No. 1, January – June 2017. ## NOTICE TO READERS AND CONTRIBUTORS

SUBMISSION

Manuscripts should be submitted via the editorial online submission and peer-review system available at <http://philjol.info/philjol/index.php/PJOHNS/index>. Authors must first register to use the site. There are NO article processing charges or fees for submission, editing, review, and publication. In case of difficulty accessing the site due to issues with the PhilJOL server, please communicate directly and submit via pjohns@pso-hns.org.

Authors must submit, along with the manuscript, scanned duly-accomplished authorship statements, disclosure statements and copyright transfer forms explained under the "Instructions to Authors" section of the journal, available in print with each issue, or online from <http://journal.pso-hns.org/author-forms/>. No manuscript will be reviewed until the signed authorship and disclosure statements and copyright transfer forms are received.

Manuscripts are reviewed by editors and other experts in the field and may be proofread, content- and form- edited and returned for revision. Manuscripts are subjected to a double blinded external peer-review process, guided by the "Responsibilities and Rights of Peer Reviewers" contained in the Editorial Policy Statements Approved by the Council of Science Editors Board of Directors available from: <http://www.councilscienceeditors.org/services>. Reviewers must maintain confidentiality about the manuscripts and should not use data from such manuscripts or share such data with colleagues before they are published. Reviewers must not reproduce the manuscript for any purpose, or use the peer review process as a means to further their own research aims, by requiring authors to respond to questions that are of interest to the reviewer but are not questions the study was designed to answer. Reviewers should refrain from suggesting their own published work be referenced.
